PREFACE

Welcome to Volume 51 of the Golden Gate University Law Review. The Golden Gate University Law Review is a student-run organization that publishes two issues each academic year: the Ninth Circuit Survey and the Comments Edition. The Ninth Circuit Survey issue features student-written Case Notes and Case Summaries focused exclusively on decisions of the United States Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit. The Comments Edition is a general interest edition, comprised of student-written Comments and Outside Articles written by practicing attorneys, judges, and academics. It provides a forum where students and legal professionals are free to explore deeply relevant and contemporary topics that dot the broader landscape.

Since its establishment in 1969, the Golden Gate University Law Review has dedicated itself to publishing scholarly writing on a wide range of legal topics that contributes to the intense legal discourse on state, national, and international levels. This year's Comments Edition continues this rich and vibrant tradition. America has continued to experience controversial legal quagmires and rulings and this issue of our Comments Edition reflects that dazzling variety of obstacles, solutions and questions yet to be answered.

The articles in this issue evaluate existing legal theory and practice, proposing changes to ensure the just administration of the law. Apple "App" controversies vis-à-vis traditional concepts of contractual privity; wealth-based discrimination and bail bond requirements; cosmetics disasters and a call for FDA intervention; sadomasochistic sex contracts gone awry in an LGBTQ+ subculture: these are the diverse topics our writers confront. In addition, we feature an interview with two civil rights attorneys who share their opinions on the many strands of the Black Lives Matter movement.

None of this writing would have materialized if we were not backed by a strong, supportive team of allies. Interviewees Walter Riley and Dewitt M. Lacy generously took the time to weigh in on urgent racial matters that fall under the #BLM umbrella. Dean Christiansen kept us afloat with his effervescent enthusiasm. Academic Dean Mark Yates ignited our creativity with his cosmic presence. Heather Varanini, a former Law Review member herself, continued to guide us with her Bluebook and editorial expertise. Our Faculty Advisor Professor Jennifer Babcock provided her signature convivial expertise and guidance. Line Editor Nicholas Joy, also a former journal member, supplied masterful commentary that helped perfect each piece. Executive Faculty Assistant

Emmy Pasternak was the connective tissue helping us put this volume together. We extend our gratitude to each person for his or her unique contributions. Finally, we are incredibly grateful to all our authors for their passionate contributions, and for giving us the opportunity to learn more about critically important issues. While the guidance of these individuals has been invaluable, we take full credit for any and all errors herein.

We have thoroughly relished our time as Editor-in-Chief and Managing Editor for the 2020–2021 year. It was a gift to meet and commence work with our new Staff Writers, to deepen our bonds with Associate Editors, and to strategize with our current Executive Board Members. Every publication—especially a law review—is an ecosystem. It crystallizes primarily as a result of collaboration. These pieces represent our ongoing dialogue with each other and with the world. It is our distinct privilege to present this edition of the Golden Gate University Law Review Comments Edition. We hope you enjoy reading it as much as we have relished creating it.
